Pullman Civic Organization

11111 S. Forrestville Avenue

PCO Bylaws Rachel Kovarsky Smith

As a reminder, the Pullman Civic Organization will be voting on the suggested amendments to the organizational bylaws posted in last month's flyer during the August general membership meeting. All voting members are encouraged to attend and vote.

Additionally, it's time again for the annual Pullman Civic Organization membership drive. To encourage community, we are hosting a BBQ before the general membership meeting on Wednesday, August 16th at 6:30pm at the Visitor's Center located at 112th & Cottage Grove. The fee for a 1-year membership to the PCO is $10, which supports the activities of the organization. We look forward to seeing you all there!

PullmanArts Ann M. Alspaugh

On Saturday, August 26th from 12-5pm, at the 5th District Police Department, the board of PullmanArts will be putting in volunteer time and funding for "The Hand-Held Community Casting Event", a partnership with Sgt. Hightower, 5th District police officers, and artist Sherri Gamble leading. Sherri created this arts event to help build trust amongst students, community leaders and law enforcement, creating human connections. A cast of hands will be made in this fun and interactive free event. Sherri Gamble's website: www.earthhousestudio.com

PullmanArts is excited to announce that for the second year in a row, we will be having a "pop-up" gallery at the Beverly Arts Walk, this year held on Saturday October 7th from noon to 7pm. Details are still forming so please stay tuned!

PullmanArts can be contacted through our email: info@pullmanarts.org for questions, additional information or to be added to our email list. Website: www.pullmanarts.org

PCO Membership Drive Beverly Carli, Chair

The PCO membership drive for 2017-18 is well underway. You may have already been contacted by your block captains but if not, they will soon be ringing your doorbell asking for your support. Membership dues remain at $10 per year for adults (18 and over).

Income from membership helps support many activities and services that benefit all residents of Pullman. This includes the Flyer (itself worth the $10) as well as recreational and social events. The PCO is represented at all CAPS meetings and reports to membership on the issues and how they are being addressed. And there is SO much more!

We invite and encourage your participation in all the PCO activities. If you have not yet become a member, now is the time!

House Tour Volunteers Needed

It's that time again! The 44th Annual Historic Pullman House Tour will be the weekend of October 7th and 8th from 11am - 5pm. As a reminder the House Tour not only brings new people and eventual neighbors to Pullman, myself included, it funds the Beman Committee's facade reimbursement program. None of this would be possible without the amazing team of volunteers who open their homes, organize the event, sell tickets and greet visitors. Volunteering is a great way to support the neighborhood and have some fun at the same time.

Please join the team and volunteer a few hours of your time. To sign-up you can email the committee PullmanHouseTour@gmail.com, call Ellen Kaulig at 312-405-6234 or fill out our volunteer form on the House Tour Facebook page.

There has been a recent pattern of vehicle thefts in nearby North Pullman. Thieves are targeting Chrysler Town & Country minivans as well as Dodge Caravans. The vehicles are then used as transportation in other crimes.

Opportunity to become a Police Officer

The effort to expand the Chicago Police Department is moving forward. The Mayor has promised to add 970 positions to the Police Dept. by the end of 2018: 516 police officers, 200 detectives, 112 sergeants, 50 lieutenants and 92 field training officers. The department also will fill 500 vacant positions. Starting pay for police officers is $48,078 and it jumps to $72,510 after 1½ years. Prospective police officers can apply to the department starting Aug. 15. The final day to apply is Oct. 15. The test, the second this year, to get into the police academy is scheduled to take place Dec. 16 & 17 at McCormick Place. Whether it's for allowing that cooling breeze in during the dog days of summer, or for keeping that cold chill out during the long winter nights, windows are an important and importantly functional part of any house design. In Pullman rowhouses they're especially significant.

Aesthetically, windows are the "eyes" of a building and help to define its character. As with all façade elements, the windows of Pullman houses and their varied configurations of panels of glass are a crucial part of the architectural significance of the community and are important to preserve and restore wherever possible.

But aside from aesthetic reasons, the wood construction double-hung windows typical throughout Pullman offer a very functional benefit. Constructed during a time that predates the convenience of modern air conditioning, windows were an important method of allowing air circulation and thus keeping indoor temperatures cool during the summer months. Coupled with the linear floor plans and east-west orientations typical of Pullman homes, as well as operable transoms and ventilating skylights, functional wood windows can offer great cooling benefits during even the hottest of summer days.

And while many manufacturers have touted the energy saving features of replacement windows over the years, a recent study performed by Mohawk College in Hamilton, Ontario found that the amount of air leakage from restored 200-year old windows was almost identical to that of brand new replacement windows. Adding into account the cost and energy use of new materials needed for construction of replacement windows, associated transportation and installation, etc., it can safely be said that the restoration of historic wood windows offers both a green alternative to replacing what may be perfectly functioning existing windows, and a savings in heating and cooling costs at least comparable to that of new windows.

So if you have any original historic windows in your home, consider the benefits of restoration before thinking about replacement. You'll save more money up front while still enjoying the same energy efficiency as new replication windows, plus you'll be helping to preserve the architectural integrity of Pullman for years to come.

Some Like It Hot: Green Spaces and Places

Lynn Smith

Vines can be both a pleasure and a pain. Most gardeners would see them as a pleasure: they provide green canopies which are often self-adhering, particularly nice if one prefers to see green over a brick wall. On the other hand, the same attributes which make them lovely also create maintenance; they climb or ramble, therefore, they may need cutting or curtailing.

Climbers fall into different categories depending on the way they climb. Self-adhering climbers which climb by "adhesive pads" or aerial roots would include trumpet vine, Virginia Creeper (Parthenocissus quinquefolia), climbing hydrangea--these require no tying in, but need strong supports as they often get heavy and climb high. Climbers which require tying in would include clematis, climbing roses and honeysuckle, the latter, less in favor now as it can be invasive in some areas. Climbing roses and clematis tend to like at least 5-6 hours of direct sun at minimum, but there are roses and clematis which can handle partial shade. Both roses and clematis like to be well watered in well-draining soil.

Some examples of climbing roses which tolerate partial shade are Henry Kelsey, a Canadian Explorer rose which is very hardy, red and said to grow 12-20 feet; "Dortmund," a lipstick red rose with a white center; and the rose growing in our front yard which is Canadian Explorer Rose 'William Baffin' which is said to grow 8-12 feet but I would say grows higher. In a category by itself is Wisteria, a twining vine which needs very strong support and full sun. When in a good location, this vine is beautiful and fragrant and can be a showpiece. However, full sun in Pullman is a short commodity which leads us to consider vines for both verticality and privacy, and we'll keep talking . . .

From the Dining Car: Nothing But Tips

Patty Lawson

It's too hot to cook, so don't. Don't go near the kitchen except to grab a cold drink (adult beverage or otherwise), find a cool spot to semi-recline, and read, y'all. (She said in her best summery, sultry slang.)

To make your own brown sugar, mix 1 cup white granulated sugar with 1-2 tablespoons molasses (depending on if you want light or dark sugar). Mix thoroughly with a fork.

Dryer sheets keep bugs off you in the summer. Wipe yourself down with it and carry it in your pocket.

Instead of pasta, use spaghetti squash. After cooking the squash, prepare it the same way you would regular pasta.

"It's weird that we cook bacon and bake cookies." – Cookie Monster

Since it is August, leave the oven alone and "wave" that squash. You're doing it 5 minutes at a time until the squash is done. Don't forget to poke about 8 holes in it with a sharp knife so it doesn't explode, which would not be a good thing. If you don't have an automatic turntable, turn it every time you check it. Poke it with a sharp knife every 5 minutes and when the knife slides in easily, you're done.

Instead of onions, try shallots. I'm a new shallot fan; they're sweeter and milder than onions and I feel more "chefy" when I use them. Three shallots = one small to medium onion.

"Only a fool argues with a skunk, a mule, or a cook." – Cowboy saying.

Worried about your salt intake? Substitute garlic powder (not garlic salt) or a citrus zest.

Don't have a needed ingredient for a recipe? Oops! Use these substitutions to save the day (all amounts are for 1 cup): Beer – 1 cup chicken broth. Bread crumbs – 1 cup cracker crumbs or ground oats. Buttermilk (an oldie but goodie) - 1 cup yogurt or add 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar to a cup of milk and let stand for 5 minutes. Light cream – 1 cup evaporated milk or ¾ cup of milk plus 3 tablespoons butter. Unsalted butter – 1 cup shortening or 7/8 cup vegetable oil. White sugar – 1 cup brown sugar or 1 ¼ cup powdered sugar or ¾ cup honey or corn sugar.

Want the shells of hard-boiled eggs to come off in big chunks instead of a million tiny pieces? Add a teaspoon of baking soda to the cooking water before putting in the eggs.

Speaking of eggs, spray a Mason jar ring with cooking spray, place it in your frying pan, and drop one cracked egg in the center of the ring. Perfectly round eggs for those egg sammiches!

Now that we're in the dog days of summer (as opposed to the "swelteringly mild" days of June and July) Move your potted plants to areas that get some shade in the afternoon.

"I hate brushing my teeth at night because that signifies that I can't have any more food and I'm just not ready for that kind of commitment." – Anon.

Do you have a favorite recipe for the stove, oven or microwave you would like to pass along? Got a useful kitchen or household tip? How about a quick fix for a cooking catastrophe? Simply email me at fromthediningcar@yahoo.com or place it in my mailbox at 11122 South Champlain. Please include your name, phone number and/or email address.

This n' That

Patti Oyervides – 773-264- 6581 & Nancy Gahan – 773-899-5835

A ROARING HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO OUR LEO LIONS: Alexis Gahan-Lopez, Mark Del Real, Billee Chiagouris, Jim Badali, Charlie Lira, Al Quiroz, Cindy McMahon, Tom McMahon, Jeanne Schulman, Jill Murtaugh, and Maria Castillo.

Carol Tome and Marie Panozzo lost their brother, Jim Tome, who resided with his family in Texas. Jim had a 35 year career as a chemist/engineer for 3M in St. Paul, MN and Austin, TX. He was a member of Civil Air Patrol (Captain & Commander) and he also served in the MN Army National Guard, reaching rank of Captain & Commander of the 447 Chemical Unit. He even built an airplane while he was in Oshkosh!

Odessa Davis, who was known to many of us, passed in June. She was a nurse to many Pullman residents. She belonged to Holy Rosary for many years and her strong faith, spunk and sense of humor will never be forgotten.

It is a very special birthday for Billee Chiagouris this month. For the past 50 years or so, she has been not only an outstanding citizen and raised a fantastic family, but she is just about the best volunteer that Pullman has known. She is such a sweetheart and we wish her the best birthday EVER!

Pullman lost Jasper Leonard, who lived on Cottage Grove. He was a disabled veteran and lost his fight with cancer in July. Our condolences to his son and family in Alabama.

Joe Lofrano passed suddenly in July. He is survived by his father, Tony Lofrano and step-mother Kathleen. He was brother of Antoinette and Anthony Lofrano and dear friend of Bobbi. Joe had strong ties to Pullman through the family business, Tony's Auto body on Kensington Ave.
